Foreword

The ancestors of the Fang family in Lijiang originated from Dashiqiao, Qianshan County, Anqing Prefecture, Anhui Province, and were a prominent local family.

In the fifteenth year of Hongwu (1383) during the Ming Dynasty, Fang Yuanzhong, a member of the family, followed the army to Yunnan and settled there, becoming one of the first ancestors of the Fang family in Yunnan.

In the mid-Jiaqing period of the Qing Dynasty (around 1806), Fang Tingfeng, the fifteenth ancestor of the Fang family in Yunnan, married into the Zhao family in Lijiang from Kunming. Later, he established his own household and became one of the first ancestors of the Fang family in Lijiang.

The Fang family in Lijiang has been settled in Dayan Ancient Town for 217 years as of 2023. According to the eighth generation descendants, there are a total of 153 relatives, including 31 ancestors, 68 brothers, and 54 sisters (including 10 children of the second brother who are American citizens, and 28 grandchildren).

The Fang family of Lijiang has placed great emphasis on the upbringing and education of their children for generations, cultivating a strong family tradition and values. Many talented individuals have dedicated themselves to beneficial causes for the country and its people, achieving remarkable success.

For three generations, the Fang family of Lijiang primarily engaged in commerce, establishing the "Chongxinhe" trading company.

The fourth generation, Fang Kun, was skilled in calligraphy and painting, and a tribute student during the Guangxu era. He is featured in one of the illustrations in the "Guangxu Lijiang Prefecture Gazetteer" and served as the first president of the Lijiang Commercial Promotion Association.

Mr. Kun was very strict in supervising his descendants, ensuring they were well-educated and knowledgeable in literature and etiquette, with each generation surpassing the last.

The Fang Family Compound, originally built during the Jiaqing era of the Qing Dynasty, has a history of over 200 years

(The current former residence of Fang Guoyu) Fang Kun personally selected the site and designed the building, and commissioned its construction. It is a key cultural relic under the protection of Yunnan Province. Architectural experts explain that the Fang Family Compound combines the meticulousness and rigor of Hui-style architecture with the grand and imposing style of Naxi architecture, making it a unique architectural masterpiece that integrates Han and Naxi cultures. It is a prime example of historical value.

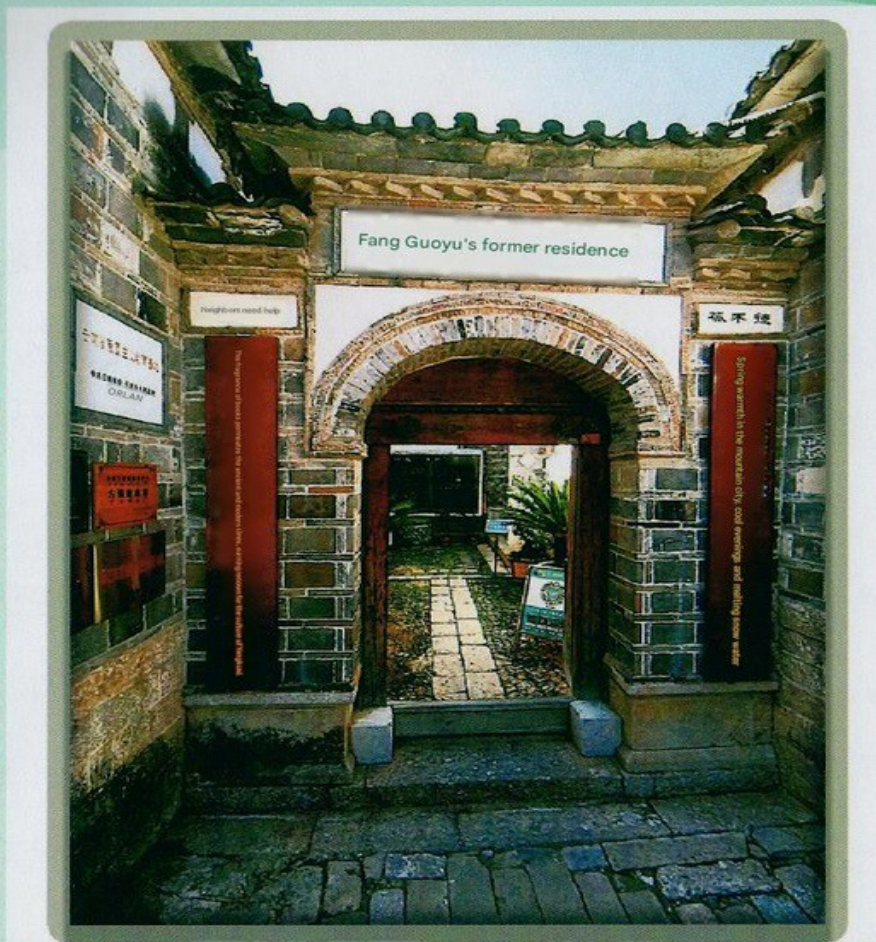

The Fang family of Lijiang, once they had money, used it to educate their children, hiring tutors and cultivating talent. By the eighth generation, 10 members were engaged in education, 7 in medicine, and 5 in scientific research. Among them were 3 professors, 5 associate professors, 7 with doctoral degrees, 4 with master's degrees, and 1 postdoctoral fellow. They were truly pillars of the nation and a treasure to the people. A scholar, visiting Fang Guoyu's former residence, felt as if he had entered a lecture hall of family traditions and precepts. "The Fang family's diligence, unity, mutual learning, and rigorous family traditions and precepts deeply moved me."

May the Fang family members, generation after generation, inherit the family traditions and precepts, and promote traditional virtues.

May all good things arrive as scheduled.

Friendship is the most precious thing; we should visit each other often and share the seasons together.

Bao Chu and Xiao Bing's family

postscript

Time flies, it's all in the blink of an eye.

For decades, through tens of thousands of days and nights, I have faced the sunrise and rejoiced at the sunset, dedicating myself to my career, achieving lifelong success, and having everything go as I wish!

The only evidence of the beautiful and happy times that once existed, besides your snow-white hair, is those old photographs that still accompany me. Looking at the smiling faces of my loved ones, a feeling of remembrance arises spontaneously. The nurturing grace of my parents, the affection between my sisters, these rare and precious emotions all resonate in my mind, eternally captured in these photographs.

The years of a child's growth are full of boundless energy. Each photo records the process of happy and healthy growth, and shows the excitement of seeing the family prosper.

Friends and family gather, and photos taken to commemorate the occasion silently speak of the sincerity, care, and mutual support among friends and family. Though not always together, the memories are beautiful. Grateful for the encounters in life, and cherishing those we respect. May our thoughts of you continue every day, and may good health be with you always!

In life, I explore the magnificent landscapes of our motherland, strolling through pastoral scenes and scenic gardens. I delight in learning about history, culture, engineering, and architecture, and the sights evoke emotions and feelings. Feeling refreshed, I take a photo to commemorate the moment—a lasting memory.

For deceased relatives and friends, looking at the photos they left behind, the stories of their joyful lives come vividly to mind, and eternal remembrance allows them to relive the meaning of life.

We live by the principles of nature, content with our lot, and find peace in the passing years. Our love began with a photo of myself and my husband, proof of our mutual growth. The photo tells the story of the increase and decrease in family members, a testament to how we became each other's support; the photo warms our entire lives.

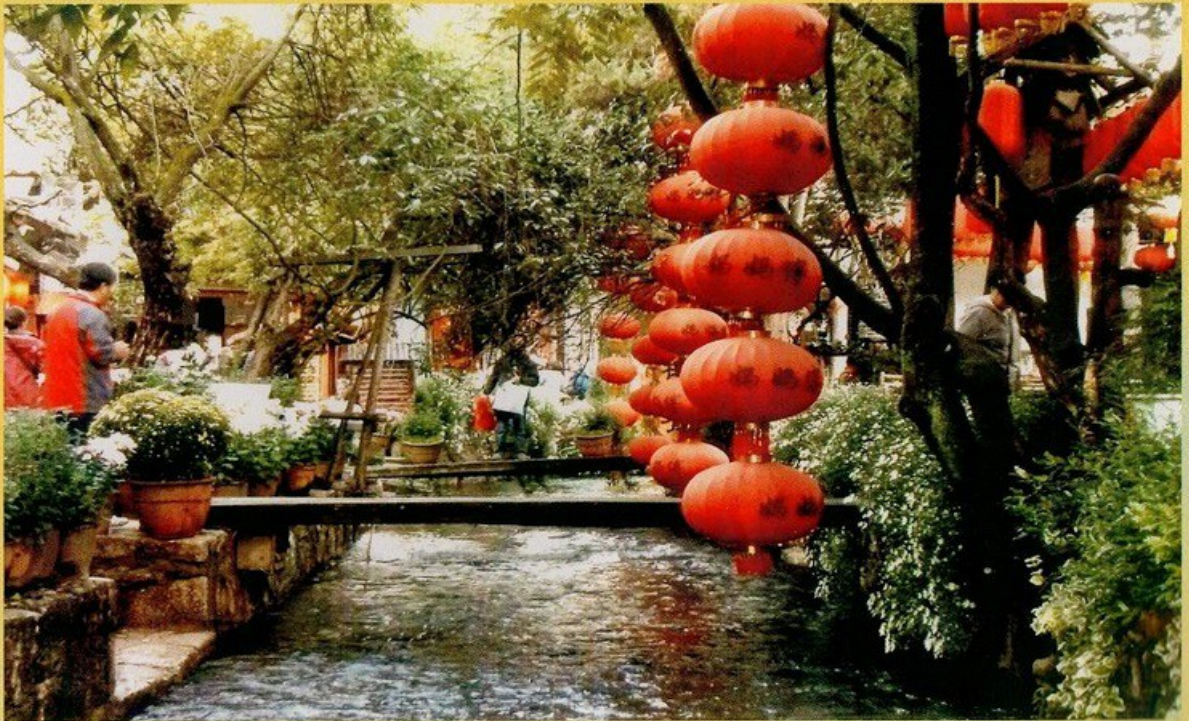

People are blessed with the beauty of spring, and spring is kind to people. May joy last forever on life's long journey. May all good things arrive as expected.
